Hand Crocheted Doilies

From tumbler to platter size.

Possibly you have read about these in fashion books, magazines and newspapers. These doilies are crocheted by the peasants of Serbia. If made by anyone who counted their time valuable they would not be sold for many times the price we ask. Prices are 10c, 12½c, 35c, 45c, 50c.

They come in a variety of beautiful designs. For long wear there is nothing to equal them. They are practically everlasting.

We have taken the Janesville agency for these crocheted doilies. You will be surprised at the lowness of price, quality of work, considered. See them at the white goods counter.

SENIORS FINISHING THEIR SCHOOL WORK

Today is Last Class Day And Tomorrow And Friday Examinations Will Be Held.

Today is the last regular class day for the graduating class of the high school. The year's work has been rapidly drawing to a close and today the final lessons before examinations were heard. Tomorrow and Friday the final examinations, which will conclude their work in the school, will be held, and the graduates will then be unhampered by their studies in preparing for commencement. Next week and Monday of the week following will be entirely given over to last preparations. Speeches will be heard and the usual points in the delivery strengthened; the class song will be practiced daily and the last of next week the members of the play cast will have dress rehearsals just before the presentation of the drama on Wednesday night.

The usual order will follow at the exercises this year, Tuesday night, June 16, being class night, Wednesday evening, the night when the class play will be given, and Thursday, graduation night. Friday evening there will be the alumni banquet at the school, so that the entire week will be a busy one for the graduates.

JUNE 12TH NAMED FOR ADJOURNMENT

Will Have to Rush Work of Legislature This Week in Order to Be Through.

Madison, Wis., June 2.—The final adjournment of the 1909 legislature will be on June 12th, according to the adoption of a resolution by the senate and assembly today. This will require the practical clearing up of the work this week, give the governor six days to consider the bills. All rules have been suspended, so as to rush business.

A new bill came from the committee on claims today, creating the office of public printer at a salary of $2,000 a year. The senate debated and adopted the social democratic resolution to take a census of the unemployed in Wisconsin.

The assembly debated and passed the senate bill to give Milwaukee more power in its government measures being called the "Home Rule bill." Lawyers who brought up claims of fiction against the state and tried to get the legislature to pay them were defeated today when the assembly killed the bill to refund $4,000 paid by fishermen for net licenses.

PLANS REUNION FOR WISCONSIN SOLDIERS

Novel Idea Relative to Old Soldiers' Gathering in Eau Claire During Department Encampment.

J. E. Kilts of Eau Claire, who is in Janesville attending the Old Fellows' convention, is most enthusiastic over the coming state encampment of Grand Army veterans at Eau Claire and as chairman of the committee on regional reunions has the following novel idea relative to the same to call to the attention of all old soldiers.

The Committee on Regional Reunions, to be held in Eau Claire at the time of the Annual Department Encampment during the week beginning June 14, are arranging for a gathering of all soldiers who were members of Wisconsin regiments and batteries during the war of the Rebellion, even though not members of any Post of the G. A. R.

The primary object of this reunion is that those who otherwise cannot meet their comrades in regimental reunions, because there are growing few of such, and they are growing less and less every succeeding year, may in this way meet old comrades and renew old friendships.

We often attend department and national encampments and although we endeavor to hunt up old friends and comrades, yet we find that after the gathering has dispersed, there were those there who may have traveled across the continent with whom we spent many a day in camp and on field, belonging to the same organization, that we failed to see.

All the troops of the north as well as the south, raised for carrying on the war, were provided by the various states and went into the service as state organizations, each carrying a flag of its state as well as the stars and stripes, and when the war was ended and the men were mustered out, returned to the state from which it went, for final muster out. So it seems to this committee that there should be a recognition of the fact that this state took in the war of the Rebellion by a reunion of the survivors of the state troops each year, and inasmuch as many of them belong to the several Posts of the G. A. R. there is no better time nor place nor occasion for such a reunion, than in connection with the Annual Department Encampments. Such a reunion of the state troops would supplement in a harmonious way and finally take the place of the several regimental reunions, and would supply an opportunity for old comrades to get together where no reunion of their regiments are held.

Seventy-one separate regiments and batteries were sent out by this state during the war of the Rebellion, and during the war of the Union here in June it is quite likely that there will not be to exceed half dozen regiments of those regiments and batteries.

ATTEMPT TO START CHURCH AT BELOIT

New Catholic Church Agitated—F. M. McHale Resigns from Christian Church.

Beloit, Wis., June 2.—Bishop Muldoon of the Rockford Diocese held a meeting in South Beloit last night relative to the establishment of a new Catholic church at that place. Several of the parishioners of St. Thomas' church, together with the priest, Father Ward, attended the meeting, but the general opinion seems to be unfavorable to such a project. Although Father Ward has pledged his support to the plan it is not thought that the church will be started.

F. M. McHale, pastor of the Christian church, has tendered his resignation and will leave immediately for Knoxville, Tenn., where he will assume the duties of pastor of a church at that place. It is thought that on his departure the church will be abandoned.

PTOMINE POISONING
KILLS CLINTON MANVeal-Loaf Eaten by L. A. Maloy Causes Sudden Sickness and Death.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Clinton, Wis., June 1.—Our community was shocked Monday forenoon to hear that L. A. Maloy had died the night previous of poisoning. It seems that last Wednesday Mrs. Maloy was taken sick Wednesday evening and Mr. Maloy and daughter, Helen, were taken sick Thursday evening. Mrs. Maloy is very low and in a critical condition and Miss Helen seems to be a little better. Mr. Maloy was one of our most substantial farmers and had the respect of all who knew him.

Mrs. Martin Lee and daughter of Beloit were here over Sunday and Monday.

Dr. Geo. I. Kemmerer is expected home from Socorro, N. M., some time this week. He has been offered his place in the School of Music for another year at a very substantial increase in salary.

Miss Mattie Peters of Beloit was home over Sunday and Monday.

Harry Conley of Janesville was here at the parental home over Sunday and Monday.

Mrs. Clara Hatch has been spending some little time here visiting Mr. Patchen's relatives.

Miss Grace Haddon of Chicago spent Sunday here with her father, O. Haddon, and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Ponn. Hastings and son were here over Sunday and Monday visiting his mother, Mrs. Ira Hastings, who will accompany them back to Chicago for an extended visit.

For some unaccountable reason there was a great dearth of nickels in town Saturday, making it difficult to secure enough to make change.

Memorial day was passed in Clinton very much as it is every year. Shortly after the procession had reached the cemetery and the services had been fairly begun it began to rain and a large number of those present, especially the school children, were thoroughly soaked before they arrived home.

Arrangements have been made to hold a luncheon meeting next Sunday morning and Rev. Collins will then deliver his address.

Mrs. V. C. Tuttle, Mrs. James Winokor and son, Geo. Swan, have been spending a few days down to Malta, Ill.

The Men's club of the Congregational church will give a farrow ball in the church parlors to Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Wilson, Thursday evening, before their departure for their new home at Madison, Wis.

Clinton will be a great loss by this most excellent family leaving us and universal regret is felt by all that they are to leave us.

Mrs. Wilson has made many warm personal friends by his proverbial good nature, quiet, gentlemanly and refined manners. And Mrs. Wilson has been prominently identified with the Woman's 20th Century club and the church and social life of our village and by her joyful happy nature has endeavored herself to all who have come in contact with her; and the children will be sadly missed by their young friends, who are legion.

F. R. Barnum returned Wednesday from a trip of a week to Aberdeen, S. D.

Mrs. Emeline L. C. Hatch was in Janesville Friday on business.

J. B. Monroe and granddaughter, Miss Hazel Thurston, visited Mrs. Andrew Saturday at Haddonham hospital, Chicago. They report her getting along very nicely.

L. G. Simpson and family came up from Harvard Saturday and took Mr. Lee's auto and ran over to Delavan lake for over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Drake and grandson, Charles McCombs, were in Beloit Saturday combining business and pleasure.

Mrs. Minnie O. Crane has two nieces, Misses Gertrude and Mildred Jeeves of Port Huron, Ont., Canada, visiting her.

Mrs. E. J. Pratt and family left Friday evening for Freeport, Ill., to visit her husband and other relatives until Monday evening.

Mrs. L. Peterson and daughter, Amy, will be to Peatonien, Ill., Saturday to stay over Decoration day.

Mrs. E. Inman went to Beloit Saturday afternoon to stay over Decoration day.

Miss Nettie Hughes came out from Chicago Saturday to visit with her parents' relatives a few days.

Mrs. Lottie Baldwin Chas came out from Chicago Saturday to stay over Decoration day.

Mrs. Arthur Harris and family came down from Janesville Monday in their auto.

Mr. and Mrs. Ponn Hastings of Chicago spent Memorial day here with Mr. Hastings' mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Patchen of Delavan were here Monday.

Mrs. L. C. Griswold went to Sharon Tuesday for the day. She expects to leave for a month's visit to Buffalo, N. Y., next week.

Dr. P. G. Wolcott of Janesville spent Sunday here.

EVANSVILLE WANTS TO BE ON THE LINE

Held Mass. Meeting Last Evening to Discuss Confering With Promoters of Freeport-Madison Gasoline Line.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Evansville, June 2.—If enthusiasm can accomplish anything Evansville will be on the line of the proposed Freeport-Madison interurban. Last evening a hundred business men and prominent citizens met to discuss what steps should be taken to see that Evansville was not neglected when the proposed road is built. There was much enthusiasm shown and a committee of the following citizens were named to confer with the promoters of the line at Freeport: Mayor T. C. Richardson, Everett Van Patten, P. C. Wilder, A. S. Baker, L. M. Richmond, George L. Pullen, C. J. Pearsall. These gentlemen with other committee members from Dordrecht, Cedarburg, Albany,

Cooksville and Stoughton and the Freeport gentlemen behind the project. The present idea is to start the line from Freeport run through Cedarburg to Broadhead, thence to Albany, over to Evansville through Cooksville and Stoughton and then around the lakes leading into Madison to that city. Gasoline motor cars are the mode of locomotion thus far talked of and it is probable that the road will be built within this coming year.

MEMORY OF COLFAX
DEAR TO REBEKAHS

Man Who Founded Their Degree Stands High in the Regard of the Rebekahs.

Schuyler Colfax, founder of the Woman's Degree of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, who was mentioned prominently in the address given by William C. Lamb, of Watapen, President of the Rebekahs Assembly, at the welcoming exercises at the Myers Theatre last night, stands high in the regard of every Rebekah and a few facts in regard to his work might not be amiss at the present time. Not only was he a leading figure in national affairs, but he also was foremost in the campaign to establish a woman's degree of the I. O. O. F. and may properly be called the founder of that order.

The institution of such degree had been agitated prior to 1850 but with little success. In 1851 at the session of the sovereign Grand Lodge, Mr. Colfax introduced a resolution to establish a Woman's Degree to be known as the Rebekah Degree. He was appointed chairman of a committee of three to draft the constitution, by-laws and ritual for such a degree. He wrote the ritual in July and August and presented it to the Sovereign Grand Lodge in September. When the committee reported on the resolution, the majority report was unfavorable but Colfax presented a minority report and supported it so ably that the minority report together with the ritual, was adopted. Through the efforts of Colfax, the Rebekah degree for women was established in 1851.

Dr. Soseman of Monroe, Wis., an Odd Fellow, who had been a close personal friend of Mr. Colfax, the elevated the idea of presenting the Grand Lodge of the Rebekahs with a memento of his late friend so procured from Mrs. Colfax, who resides at South Bond, Ind., a piece of wood from Mr. Colfax's room furnishings from which he turned a gavel. The dates, 1851 and 1909, are inscribed on the head.

The Men's club of the Congregational church will give a farrow ball in the church parlors to Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Wilson, Thursday evening, before their departure for their new home at Madison, Wis.

Clinton will be a great loss by this most excellent family leaving us and universal regret is felt by all that they are to leave us.

Mrs. Wilson has made many warm personal friends by his proverbial good nature, quiet, gentlemanly and refined manners. And Mrs. Wilson has been prominently identified with the Woman's 20th Century club and the church and social life of our village and by her joyful happy nature has endeavored herself to all who have come in contact with her; and the children will be sadly missed by their young friends, who are legion.

WAS IT MURDER?
FIND STRYCHNINE

POISON FOUND WHEN RICH, ILL. NOIS WOMAN'S BODY IS EXHUMED.

SECRET AUTOPSY IS HELD

Sensational Report of Coroner Stires Onelda Where Mrs. Josephine Carleton Archer Was Buried After Death in Los Angeles, Cal.

Galesburg, Ill., June 2.—The fact that strychnine in large quantities was found in the body of Mrs. Josephine Carleton Archer after it was secretly exhumed at Onelda, Ill., has caused a great sensation. That the woman was murdered at Los Angeles, Cal., and her body shipped to Onelda, is the theory on which relatives and the county authorities are working.

The body of Mrs. Archer had been shipped here by her husband, Richard Archer, upon her death, and the circumstances which surrounded the sudden demise led to an investigation, resulting in the holding of the autopsy.

Was a Wealthy Woman.
Mrs. Archer, a woman wealthy in her own right, filed a suit for divorce in the courts of Los Angeles two in the courts of Los Angeles, charging cruelty and inhuman treatment. Two days before the news of her death was received, by her daughter, Mrs. Helen Carleton Marsh of this city, a letter was received stating that she was in excellent health. The message conveying the tidings of her death stated that she had died in convulsions.

A private investigation has been in progress for six weeks, instigated by Charles J. Marsh, her son-in-law, who is a roadmaster on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy road. He made an affidavit before Coroner G. S. Chalmers, which resulted in the finding of the poison.

The deceased was formerly Mrs. John Carleton of Onelda, Ill., and about three years ago she went to Los Angeles for her health, meeting Archer there, and they were married, residing in a home owned by the wife on Harvard boulevard. Archer had conducted a brokerage business in Chicago, St. Louis and Kansas City before going to Los Angeles.

The facts stated by the son-in-law in his affidavit were placed in the hands of State's Attorney A. J. Boutelle, and the investigation was commenced. That the suspicions of the relatives might not become public the investigation was conducted secretly. The stomach was removed and subjected to tests for various poisons. The coroner states that undoubted evidences of strychnine poisoning were found.

Death Unnatural, Says Coroner.
Concerning these tests Coroner Chalmers said:

"I found a strong reaction for strychnine in the liver, kidneys and spleen. The stomach and contents are now in the hands of a chemist for analysis. In a thorough examination I found no condition that could have caused death in my opinion except from unnatural causes. The organs were all sound. There was no condition that would have caused convulsions. Considering Mrs. Archer's physical condition she should have lived many years."

State's Attorney Boutelle has received messages from friends of the deceased woman in Onelda urging him to take every action possible to solve the mystery of her sudden death, relatives of the dead woman in various parts of the country have sent offers of assistance in following up the investigations.

Mrs. Helen Carleton Marsh, the daughter who resides in this city, is a singer of some note, having been a soloist in Bishop Cheney's choir in Chicago some time ago, later being with Brooks' band for several seasons.

Daughter Discusses Case.
"I am awaiting the complete report of the chemical analysis before making up my mind what to do," said Mrs. Marsh, "but from the coroner's report and from knowledge in my own possession I am satisfied that my mother's death should be investigated. The death was totally unexpected and I know of no explanation for it as a natural event. She was not subject to bodily ills of any sort, and had been in perfect health. Two days before she died she wrote me to this effect:

"My marriage to Mr. Archer was a great surprise to me, and to my sister, Mrs. Kate Carleton Smith of Deland, Fla., who is at present in Santa Anna, Cal."

Mrs. Carleton was the fourth wife of Richard Archer. His first wife died many years ago, his second wife, it seems, died under circumstances somewhat similar to those surrounding the death of the last wife. A divorce separated him from his third choice, after which he remained unmarried for several years until he met Mrs. Carleton.

Son of Col. Higbee Killed.
Burlington, Ia., June 2.—Howell N. Higbee, son of Col. George H. Higbee, a prominent business man and street car magnate, was accidentally killed at an electric light plant here.

Australian Fish.
There are many varieties of Australian fish which are entirely unknown on this side of the world. Some of them are the snapper, the kingfish, the trumpeter, the blue cod, the giant skate, and the yellow bream. The Sydney prawns are the biggest, finest and pinkest (when cooked) in the world; they run to a length of ten inches, and are proportionately fat.

TEXAS

No part of our great Republic is receiving so marked attention as the great state of Texas and especially that immense tract of unbroken fertile prairie called the Panhandle. This country has been farmed successfully for the past 20 years.

One of the last great ranches to be opened up for settlement was the X I T ranch, one of the best known ranches in Texas. The headquarters of the X I T ranch was located at Bovina. The Swenson Land Co. own and control over 200,000 acres of this ranch and offer the same for settlement at prices within the reach of all. We live at Bovina, Texas, and operate a farm comprising 3000 acres at the present time. We take you down to our own farm and to the neighboring farms and show you actual results.

We grow all kinds of grain. We do not depend on any one crop. You know how soon a one-crop country plays out. We raise wheat 30 to 40 bushels to the acre, but we also raise corn, oats, barley, alfalfa, broom corn, kaffir corn, maize, millet, fruit of all kinds, watermelons, cantaloupes, in fact anything you may wish to grow except the strictly tropical fruits. Diversified farming is what makes a prosperous country. We can show you our lands at any month of the year. We plow 12 months in the year.

You may send to the U. S. Agricultural Dept. and get statistics of our rainfall for the past 28 years showing you that we have had an abundance of rain all these years. We have never had a crop failure in our country. We can prove this.

A good many Rock Co. people have been at Bovina and purchased land. Some of them are located there now. Write them.

The next excursion to Bovina, Texas, leaves Janesville June 15th. Our private car Virginia will be in Janesville June 12, 13, 14. Come and see it.

NIECE OF THE LATE H. H. ROGERS MAY INHERIT A FORTUNE.
Miss Marion Rogers, who may become the richest woman in the United States.

Chicago, Ill.—When the late H. H. Rogers died he left an estate at from $400,000 to $500,000. Miss Marion Rogers, aged 13, of 1329 Lombard avenue, a niece, was a favorite of the deceased old magnate and according to her friends will receive $500,000 when the estate is settled.

Miss Rogers, daughter of Rufus A. Rogers, an insurance broker with offices at 100 Washington street, has since childhood stood high in the graces of her wealthy uncle. She has made frequent visits to his home in Fair Haven, Mass., and the man who valued his time at $10 per minute would spend many a valuable hour entertaining the girl.

When the magnificent Rogers Memorial church was dedicated in the services called on to take part in the services and was visibly entertained by friends of the Rogers family. When the trim little known, Mr. Rogers' private yacht, was ready to take her initial dip it was Miss Rogers who stood in the bow and conferred upon her the Indian name which is translated "Queen of the Waters."

The R. A. Rogers family have assumed the same traits of refinement which have long characterized the eastern capitalists, and friends said that not to give out the slightest bit of information in regard to the plans or history of the family.

R. A. Rogers is said to have never liked the oil business and refused opportunities to become identified with the Standard Oil interest. He lived in Fair Haven at the old Rogers home, until 10 years ago, when he came to Chicago and entered the insurance field. Success has followed him persistently and he has recently relinquished part of his business interests.

Waukegan Bartender Accuses Another Barkeeper With Crooked Work With Check.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Waukegan, Wis., June 2.—Louis Waukegan was arrested Tuesday by Sheriff John Sell on a warrant charging the young man with having issued a check for $10 without having funds on deposit in the bank. His examination was set for June 4th, to be held in Justice Larner's court. In default of bail, $200, Mr. Waukegan was remanded to the custody of the sheriff.

Charles Goerling, bartender in Julius Wehmkopf's saloon, is the complainant.

The check was made out on the National German-American bank and was given to George Miller as wages for the day's work. Mr. Miller, as Mr. Waukegan said, had the check cashed by Mr. Goerling, and the check was tendered in payment for a purchase made. Two days later Mr. Goerling took the check to the bank and was refused payment on it because of no funds.

The BLACK BAG

CHAPTER XI.

"MRS. HALLAM!" cried Kirkwood beneath his breath. The woman ignored his existence, moving swiftly forward, she dropped on both knees by the side of the boy and caught up one of his hands, clasping it passionately in her own.

"Fred!" she cried, a curious break in her tone. "My little Freddie! Oh, what has happened, dear?" "Oh, hello, mamma!" greeted the young man, submitting listlessly to her caresses, and betraying no overwhelming surprise at her appearance there. Indeed, he seemed more concerned as to what Kirkwood, an older man, would be thinking to see him so endeared and fondled than moved by any other emotion. Kirkwood could see his shamefaced, sidelong glances and despaired him properly for them.

"But without attending to his response Mrs. Hallam rattled on in the uneven accents of excitement. 'I waited, wait! I couldn't wait any longer, Freddie, dear. I had to know, had to know. Because came home about 9 and said that you had told him to wait outside. That some one had told him to come in here and that a boy had told him to move on. I didn't know what—'

"What a clock now?" her son interrupted. "It's about 3, I think. Have you hurt yourself, dear? Oh, why didn't you come home? You must have known I was dying of anxiety!"

"Oh, I say! Can't you see I'm hurt? Had a nasty fall and must have been asleep ever since."

"My precious one! How?" "Can't say, hardly. I say, don't pass a chap so, mamma. I brought Eccles along and told him to wait, because—well, because I didn't feel so much like shutting myself up in this beastly old tomb. So I left the door ajar and told him not to let anybody come in. Then I came upstairs. There must have been somebody already in the house. I made me feel queer rather. At any rate, I heard voices down below, and the door banged, and somebody began hammering like fun on the knocker."

"The boy paused, rolling an embarrassed eye up at the stranger. "Yes, yes, dear," Mrs. Hallam urged him on.

"Why, I—I made up my mind to cut my stick—let whoever it was pass on on the stairs, you know. But he followed me and struck me, and then I jumped at him, and we both fell down the whole flight. And that's all. The sides, my head's aching like every thing."

"But this man—" Mrs. Hallam looked up at Kirkwood, who bowed silently, struggling to hide both his amusement and perplexity. "You, Mr. Kirkwood?"

Again he bowed, glancing away.

She rose suddenly. "You will be

Healthy Food—Easy Work

If It Takes Your Strength to Digest Your Meal You Can't Do Much Work.

The power to overcome all the ailments of human life, and to meet all the difficulties which life presents is within the province of every individual, says one writer of authority. He might have added with equal truth that most of our ailments are brought upon ourselves, and very often we are responsible for our difficulties. Wrong living causes many ailments. Rich, greasy foods at all times, day or night, cause stomach disorders, which must vitally affect every part of the system, becoming quickly chronic. Start the day right with a sensible breakfast of 15-Corn Flakes or 15-Corn Wheat Flakes. They are always ready to serve—crisp and delicious. They satisfy the hunger and give health and strength without overloading the digestive powers. Many a chronic stomach has been restored to health by 15-Corn Flakes or 15-Corn Wheat Flakes of corn or wheat served with good milk or cream and a little fruit of some kind. Remember it is the original and justly famous 15-Corn process that makes the 15-Corn Flakes and 15-Corn Wheat Flakes so nice and crisp and healthful.

good enough to explain your presence here," she informed him, with dangerous severity.

"To be frank with you—" "I advise that course, Mr. Kirkwood."

"Thanks, awfully. I came here half an hour ago looking for a lost purse, full—well, not quite full of sovereigns. It was my purse, by the way."

Suspicion glinted like foxfire in the cold green eyes beneath her puckered brows. "I do not understand," she said slowly and in level tones. "I didn't expect you to," returned Kirkwood. "No more do I. But anyway, it must be clear to you that I've done my best for this gentleman here."

He paused, with an interrogative lift of his eyebrows. "This gentleman is my son, Frederick Hallam. But you will explain—" "Pardon me, Mrs. Hallam; I shall explain nothing at present. Permit me to point out that your position here—like mine—is, to say the least, anomalous. The random stroke told us he could tell by the instant contraction of his eyes of a cat. 'It would be best to defer explanations till a more convenient time, don't you think? Then, if you like, we can chat confidentially in an antechamber chorus. Just now you—or son—is not enjoying himself apparently, and the attention of the police—had best not be called to this house too often in one night."

His levity seemed to displease and perturb the woman. She turned from him, with an impatient movement of her shoulders. "Freddie, dear, do you feel able to walk?"

"Oh! I dare say—I don't know. Where would your friend—ah—Mr. Kirkwood, lead me an arm?"

"Charming," Kirkwood declared gravely, "if you'll take the candle, Mrs. Hallam."

"One moment," she interposed in confusion. "I won't keep you waiting. And, passing, with an averted face, she ran quickly upstairs to the second floor, taking the light with her. Its glow faded from the walls above, and Kirkwood surmised that she had entered the front bedroom. For some moments he could hear her moving about. Once something scraped and bumped on the floor, as if a heavy bit of furniture had been moved. Again there was a resounding thud that denoted speculation, and this was presently followed by a dull clang of metal.

Eventually—it was not really long—there came the quiet rush of Mrs. Hallam's feet along the upper hall, and the woman reappeared, one hand holding her skirts clear of her pretty feet as she descended in a rush that caused the candle's flame to flicker perceptibly.

"Halfway down 'Mr. Kirkwood!' she called impetuously.

"Didn't you find it?" he countered blandly.

She stopped jerkily at the bottom, and after a moment of confusion "Find what, sir?" she asked.

"What you sought, Mrs. Hallam."

Smiling, he bore unflinching the prolonged inspection of her eyes, at once somber with doubt of him and flashing with indignation because of his impudence.

"You know I wouldn't find it, then, didn't you?"

"I may have suspected you wouldn't."

Now he was sure that she had been searching for the gladstone bag. That evidently was the bone of contention. Calendar had sent his daughter for it. Mrs. Hallam her son. Dorothy had been successful. But, on the other hand, Calendar and Mrs. Hallam were unquestionably allies. Why, then—

"Where is it, Mr. Kirkwood?"

"Madam, have you the right to know?"

"Through another lengthening pause while they faced each other he marked again the curious contraction of her underlip.

"I have the right," she declared steadily. "Where is it?"

"How can I be sure?"

"Then you don't know?"

"Indeed," he interrupted, "I would be glad to feel that I ought to tell you what I know."

"What you know?"

The exclamation, low spoken, more an echo of her thoughts than intended for Kirkwood, was accompanied by a little shake of the woman's head, mute evidence to the fact that she was bewildered by his answer. And this delighted the young man beyond measure, making him feel himself master of a difficult situation.

indignant demand, "What is the meaning of this, officer?"

"Precisely what I want to know, ma'am," returned the man, unyielding beneath his respectful attitude. "I'm obliged to ask you to tell me what you were doing in that house. And what's the matter with this 'gentleman'?"

He added, with a dubious stare at young Hallam's bandaged head and rumpled clothing.

"Perhaps you don't understand," admitted Mrs. Hallam sweetly. "Of course I see—it's perfectly natural. The house has been shut up for some time and—"

"Thank you, ma'am, that's just it. There was something wrong going on early in the evening, and I was told to keep an eye on the premises. It's duty, ma'am. I've got my report to make."

"The house," said Mrs. Hallam, with the long suffering patience of one elucidating a perfectly plain proposition to a being of a lower order of intelligence. "Is the property of my son, Arthur Frederick Burgoyne Hallam of Cornwall. This is—"

"But pardon, ma'am, but I was told Colonel George Burgoyne of Cornwall."

"Colonel Burgoyne died some time ago. My son is his heir. This is my son. He came to the house this evening to get some property he desired, and it seems, tripped on the stairs and fell unconscious. I became worried about him and drove over, accompanied by my friend Mr. Kirkwood."

The policeman looked his troubled state of mind and wagged a doubtful head over the case. There was his duty, and there was, opposed to it, the fact that all three were garbed in the livery of the well to do.

At length, turning to the driver, he demanded, received and noted in his memorandum book the license number of the equipage.

"It's a very unusual case, ma'am," he apologized, "I open your son's 'old it against me. I'm only trying to do my duty."

"And safeguard our property. You are perfectly justified, officer."

"Thank you, ma'am. And would you mind giving me your cards, please, all of you?"

"Certainly not." Without hesitation the woman took a little hand bag from the seat of the carriage and produced a card. Her son likewise found his pen and handed the officer an oblong slip.

"I've no cards with me," the American told the policeman. "My name, however, is Philip Kirkwood, and I'm staying at the Pless."

"Very good, sir; thank you." The man penciled the information in his little book. "Thank you, ma'am, and Mr. Hallam, sir. Sorry to have detained you. Good morning."

Kirkwood helped young Hallam into the carriage, gave Mrs. Hallam his hand and followed her. The man flicked shut the door, mounting the box beside the driver. Immediately they were in motion.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

The Fear of Thirteen.

The fearful grip which this number thirteen superstition continues to have upon the hearts of mankind women in all walks of life is incomprehensible.

Yet every intelligent person knows that nothing in this world can possibly take place without a cause, and that the cause must be sufficient to produce an effect. The most ignorant person, it would seem, should know that the arbitrary number, thirteen, has no more power to produce any effect to cause any calamity, than a drop of ink. The fact that the ink or paint, instead of being in the shape of a round drop, is put into the form of the numeral thirteen, does not add any force or power to it. A drop of ink or paint on the floor of a hotel room would have just as much power to produce harm as it would if formed into the figure thirteen.—Success Magazine.

Palms Died with Their Owner.

A discussion has arisen regarding the gardener's belief that the death of plants is a natural result of their owner's death, a number of instances being cited where trees and flowers have died under such circumstances. Among others is one related by an English gardener, whose employer, a lady, was especially fond of some superb palms in her conservatory. The lady died suddenly, and the next day to the man's surprise he found those palm trees withered, dead. Explain it.

GIRL'S SLAYER TO HANG; CROWD CHEERS VERDICT

Jury Convicts Negro Who Killed Ottumwa Choir Slinger and Barely Escaped Lynching.

Centerville, Ia., June 2.—Quickly following the jury's verdict of guilty in the case of John Junkin, a negro who murdered Miss Clara Rosen, a choir singer of Ottumwa, Judge M. A. Roberts sentenced the prisoner to be hanged.

The jury returned its verdict after a deliberation of less than four hours. There was an immense crowd awaiting the result of the trial and as the last words were read by the clerk a shout went up which was taken up by the crowd in the courthouse square.

Attorneys for the defense waived their customary right of three days before sentence of death is passed and agreed that Judge Roberts pass sentence immediately, which the court did. Junkin will hang the last Friday in July, 1910. He was taken to Fort Madison for safe keeping till the day of his execution.

Adj. Gen. Guy Logan of Des Moines was in the court room when the sentence was pronounced. He stated that there would be no need of militia to guard the prisoner as the verdict met with popular favor.

Junkin's crime was one of the most atrocious in Iowa. He confessed killing Clara Rosen with a stone while she was returning from the home of her sister. Later he dragged the girl into an excavation and assaulted her. Her dead body was found by a searching party the next morning.

CUPID LOSER IN TAFT BOUT.

Navy Midshipmen Mustn't Marry Says the President.

Washington, June 2.—"Big Bill" Taft went to the mat with Dan Cupid in the White House and in 13 minutes had the little love god beaten to a pulp. For 12 minutes Dan gave the big fellow a fair tussle, but then the bigger man got to hold in a bunch of red tape it was easy to pin the kid's shoulders to the floor.

Old Bull, who refereed the bout, slapped Taft on the shoulder and called him a winner. There was little cheering. A few big stork which acted as second for Dan flew from the arena.

In other words President Taft today formally signed the new naval regulation which forbids midshipmen to marry within the six years of their cadet course. Heretofore the midshipmen were kept away from matrimony during their four years at Annapolis. The two years sea service which follows the academic course was the undoing of many of the midshipmen and many became married men before they had learned to use a safety razor.

WEALTHY MAN COMMITS SUICIDE.

Alpena, Mich., June 2.—Jesse Fletcher, a wealthy retired business man of Indianapolis, Ind., about 50 years of age, committed suicide in his room at the Tenth Lake club in Montgomery county, about 30 miles southwest of this city. He had been in poor health for some time.

Mr. Fletcher, after spending the fall and winter traveling in California, with George N. Pierce of Buffalo, came here about three weeks ago with Harry S. Now of Indianapolis. Mr. Fletcher was not well when he arrived here, and several days ago became quite sick. While in his own room at the club he fired a bullet from his rifle through his head, dying instantly. It is believed that his illness had unbalanced his mind.

Members of his family arrived here today from Indianapolis when arrangements were completed for removing the body to that city for burial.

COPPER COMPANY OFFICER IS SENTENCED TO PRISON

Court Holds Helme Concern's Vice-President Until Its Books Are Produced.

New York, June 2.—Judge Lacombe of the United States district court sent George Haglin, vice-president of the United Copper Company, to the Tombs prison until the missing books of the concern, which the district attorney wants to use in the prosecution of August Helme, are produced.

A similar punishment also hangs over Sanford Robinson, a prominent director of the company whose case was further considered by Judge Lacombe today.

Both men are alleged to have permitted the slipping away of the books that were under subpoena. Haglin testified before the grand jury that he had overheard Robinson and one of the Helme brothers conspiring to remove the books and had interposed no objection.

"Nothing remains for me to do but to commit you for contempt," said Judge Lacombe after hearing Haglin's admission. "You had no right to stand idly by while men were plundering the removal of books wanted in a grand jury investigation. An officer or an employee cannot so act with impunity."

Haglin was visibly affected by the sentence of the court. He was allowed to communicate with his wife and lawyer, then he was led to the Tombs.

Robinson's case was then taken up by the court. It was shown that he had refused to testify before the grand jury regarding his alleged conversation with one of the Helme brothers, maintaining that he was an attorney for the company and that therefore his conversation was privileged. Judge Lacombe declined to accept this plea.

TAFT MAY VISIT MICHIGAN.

Invited to Attend Unveiling of Custer Monument at Monroe.

Washington, June 2.—A delegation from Monroe, Mich., the birthplace of Gen. George A. Custer, invited President Taft to attend the unveiling of a Custer monument at that place in October. The president said he would be glad to go if he could arrange it.

Shortly after this invitation had been extended a party of 19 Chippewa and Arapahoe Indians from western Oklahoma were presented to the president and shook hands with him. They also called on Secretary Ballinger and requested him to have the trust period on their land patents extended. The matter was taken under consideration.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

LEARN to see the world about you instead of just looking at it, and you'll find it a much more interesting world.

The art of using the eye and brain in combination is a rather rare gift.

How many of us, when we stop to consider it, really see with our mental eye what we look at our physical? Yesterday I heard the woman side of me in the street car say to her companion, "Did you see that lady who just got out, the one with the black hat?"

Her companion had apparently been looking directly at the black-haired lady who had made a rather obvious exit, but to my surprise she promptly said she had not seen her. She was evidently of the class who look at things without seeing them.

To see only the things one has a specific interest in is narrowing. I know women who could come back from a walk and describe the hat of every woman they had met, but would not be able to tell whether the flowers in the field they crossed were buttercups or wild roses.

I once took a walk in the woods with a friend of mine. We observed at least ten different varieties of birds, many of them distinctive and beautiful, and yet she could remember only one on our return, and that was the scarlet tanager, which, on account of its vivid and especially beautiful color, no one could possibly forget. This same girl, though she had the same or better chances to see the birds, would be sure to notice every flower, however obscure and tiny.

When I was attending high school, we had a teacher who would stop in the midst of our Latin recitation and ask us what the head master had on his desk in the middle hall that morning, or how many tables the physics laboratory contained. He got that class finally so that every one of us used our eyes wherever we happened to be, and without exception we found that we were seeing more and enjoying more than we had ever formerly done.

And any one who finds that he has symptoms of mental blindness will do well to apply a similar treatment to himself, for it is not possible that because of this lack of sight of not seeing what we look at, many of us are missing a good deal we might otherwise enjoy?

The Weather.—Yesterday and today have been most charming, the thermometer indicating 80 degrees or thereabouts. Things which are doing anything in the way of growing at all, are doing their level best "about these days."

Seventy Years Old.

Rheumatism and neuritis yield their pain to Perry Davis' Pinkettes—so do sprains, burns, bruises. It cures colds, colic, diarrhea. For seventy years it has been doing good. If it's used early suffering is saved and danger avoided. A 55 cent bottle is the best size; but a 50 cent bottle is really the cheapest—it holds so much more.

Easy.

"In what conditions was the Patriarch Job at the end of his life?" asked a Sunday-school teacher of a quiet-looking boy at the foot of the class. "Dead," calmly replied the quiet-looking boy.—Illustrated D.Hs.

Dyspepsia is our national ailment. Burdock Blood Bitters is the national cure for it. It strengthens stomach membranes, promotes flow of digestive juices, purifies the blood, builds you up.

Any skin itching is a tempo-lesion. The more you scratch the worse it itches. Doan's Ointment cures plus, eczema—any skin itching. At all drug stores.

"I have been somewhat constipated," said Doan's Regulars gave him the results desired. They met mildly and regulate the bowels perfectly.—George B. Krause, 206 Walnut Ave., Altoona, Pa. A specialist for pain—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, strongest, cheapest, most eminent in America for 25 years.

FIVE-YEAR-OLD SAVES LIFE OF COMPANION, MARGUERITE SELVIK.

(By Special Correspondent.)

Memphisto, Miss.—A movement is on foot in Memphisto county to recognize the bravery of Marguerite Selvik, the five-year-old heroine of Ingalls, by the presentation of a gold medal.

Marguerite Selvik with her parents at Ingalls, where the Memphisto and Marietta Light and Traction company are building an immense power dam. While playing with a companion Jesse McPherson, a little boy of her own age, Marguerite saw him fall into the river and had it not been for the bravery and presence of mind this little girl of five years, the child would have been drowned.

Without a moment's hesitation she plunged bravely in after him and as he was going down for the last time, she succeeded, unaided in dragging him in safety to the bank, but little the worse for his daring.

Prominent Memphisto county citizens are interesting themselves in the little girl and it is confidently expected that her bravery will be given distinguished recognition and fitting reward.

DAILY DIET HINTS

By DR. T. A. ALLEN, Food Specialist.

EATING SLOWLY.

Cereals and vegetables should be eaten very slowly. Vitality is wasted by hurried eating. But the benefit from thorough mastication is not so much in the conversion of starch to sugar in the mouth and in avoiding the work of reducing food in stomach and intestines as in the effect upon the nervous system. The relation between food and thought is intimate, retro-active. Hurry is worry, worry is a condition of health. Measured eating balances the nerve supply and that means, other things equal, health. Measured eating is a natural sedative—to be taken with each meal.

A BIG DIFFERENCE.

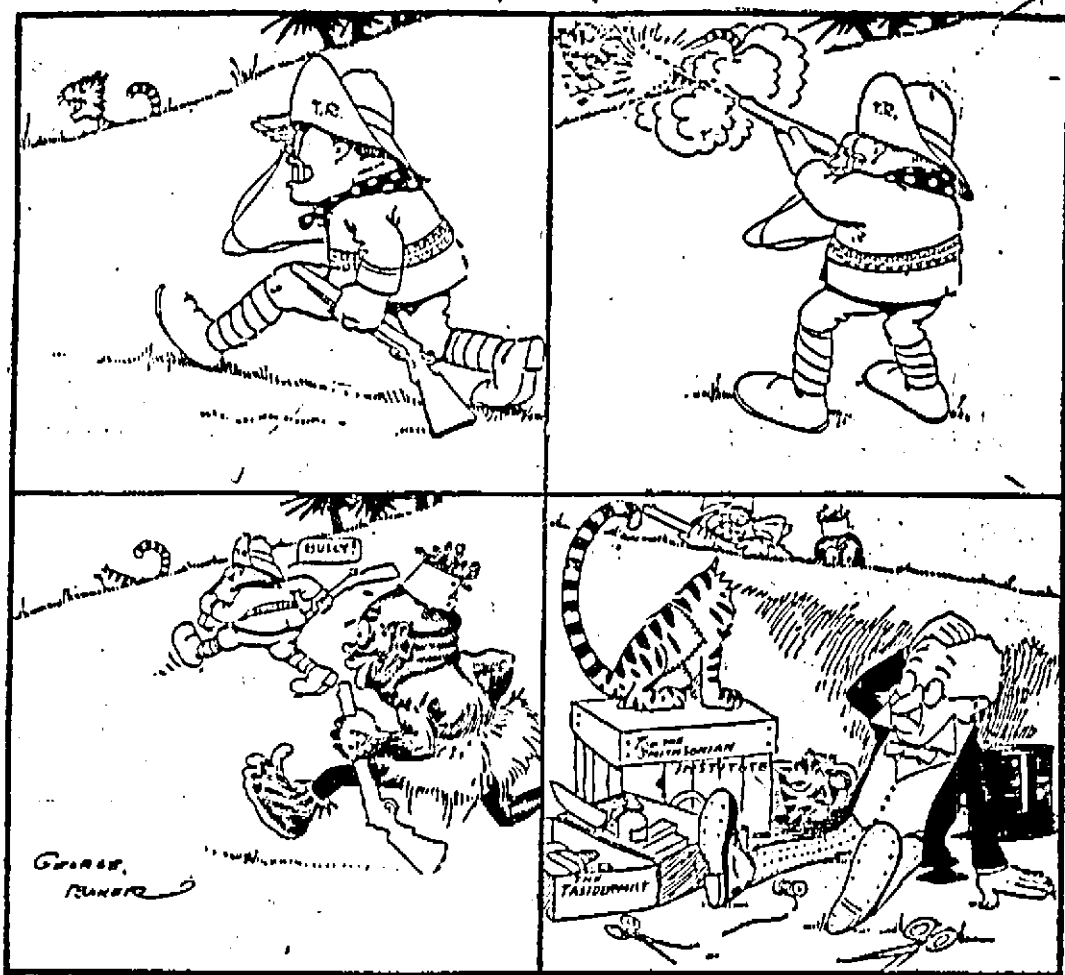

The Dramatic Critics—Is Miss Pool-lie really going to retire from the stage? The Manager—No, she's only going on a farewell tour.

HIS REASON.

The Managing Editor—What was the reason, Hal, the artist, kicking so strenuously about? Art Critic—In my criticism of his new picture I said he was a deft colorist, and the compositor made it deaf.

THERE ARE OTHERS.
